

Create An Abundant Life

In this entertaining and interactive program, acclaimed life coach and New York Times bestselling author Cheryl Richardson shows you how to create abundance in four important areas of your life: energy, time, passion, and money. Using a live coaching format, Cheryl will teach you how to manage yourself instead of time to create more space in your calendar for what really matters; eliminate your energy drains so you can put more energy toward your most treasured priorities; create more financial abundance by becoming a good steward for the money you already have; and tap into your passion by answering the key questions that will help you to identify what you love. As Cheryl says: True security comes from creating abundance in all areas of your life!
