

The Commands of Jesus

Non-denominational study guide for serious adult Bible students and for Sunday School teachers. According to the gospel of John, Jesus said to his disciples, If ye love me, keep my commandments (John 14:15). What are these commandments that we are to keep? Jesus sayings as given in the gospels can be categorized as commands, declarative comments, and questions. In this book we will look at his commands, to see more clearly what we are to do, what actions we are to take, and how we are to think, in order to live the life Jesus expected of his followers. This book is a study of some of the commands in depth. It shares ways to get more out of these briefly stated demands and considers whether it is feasible or desirable to apply them in modern society. The commands can be roughly divided into three types: 1.Short imperatives addressed to individuals in specific situations such as: Follow me (Matt. 9:9). Arise, take up thy bed (Matt. 9:6). Stretch forth thine hand (Matt. 12:13). 2.Commands that are more culturally relative, such as those regarding alms and fasting (Matt. 6:1-4,16-18). 3.Commands that are timeless because they are concerned with an individuals thoughts and relationships. Examples of this type of command are: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind (Matt. 22:37). Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself (Matt. 22:39). Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect (Matt. 5:48). This third category deals with the ultimate issues of existence. This book will be concerned mainly with this type of imperative. Dr. Elizabeth L.
